Dr. Herman Styles Ficke

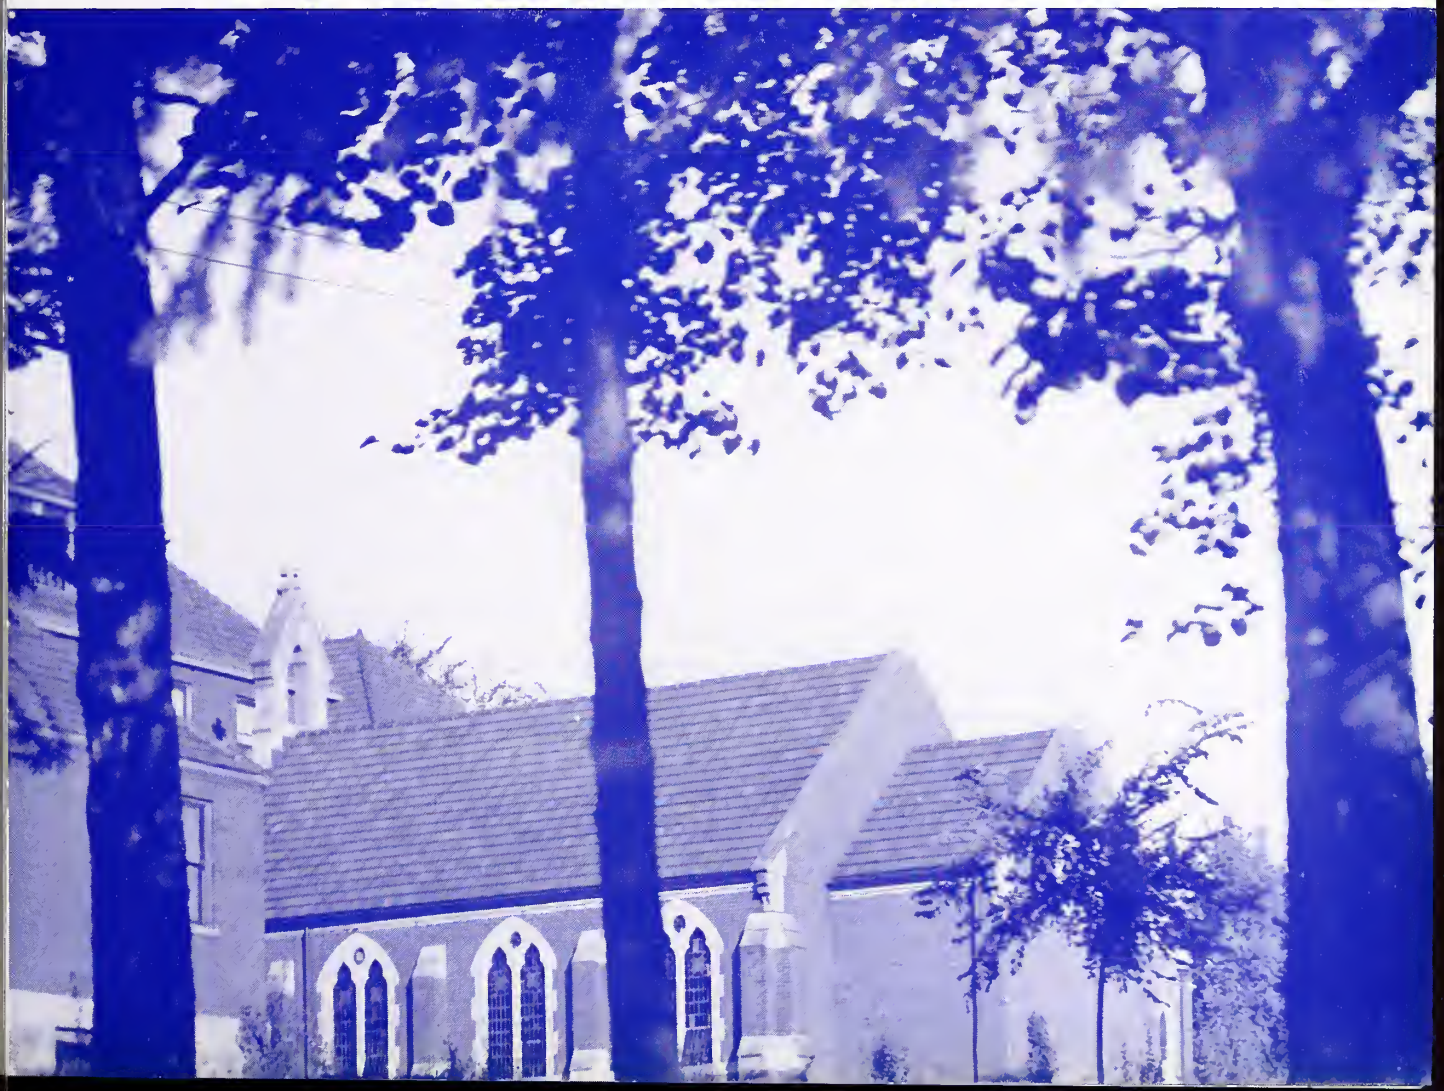

For thirty-five years Dr. Herman Styles Ficke has ministered on our campus as professor of English and head of that department. He has witnessed and assisted the growth of this University from the time that it was moved to its present location on University Avenue. His knowledge, his humor, his manner of teaching, his interest in current affairs and in the development of this school have all aided to raise him in the eyes of the students as a teacher who is loved and respected by them during their stay in college and still remembered years afterward in the the same light.

The class of 1942 takes great pleasure in dedicating this twenty-sixth edition of the KEY to him.

Dr. Dale Dennis Welch

The University of Dubuque has functioned continuously for eighty-nine years. What is it that has enabled the institution to survive? In that same period hundreds of institutions, founded like it with high purpose, have fallen by the way. Many have been the vicissitudes, but one way or another Dubuque has survived.

But it has done more than survive. The institution has grown in size and in usefulness. From one decade to another there has been improvement in the quality of its program. From all this we may conclude that God wishes to use this institution. It behooves us therefore to keep ourselves sensitive to His purposes for the University of Dubuque.

Sincerely,

Dale D. Welch

Detmer T. Kuhn

The Reverend Detmer T. Kuhn, who for many years was associated with the University of Dubuque as financial representative and secretary, died on October 3, 1940, in the Finley Hospital after but a few weeks illness.

Endowed with a strong intellect, equipped by superior training, blessed with faith and conviction, the Reverend Mr. Kuhn faced his mission of representative, friend and Christian leader with a devotion that will ever cause his name to be spoken in our midst with reverence.

Student Council

In the second year of its existence the Student Council has effectively carried on its representative and administrative functions in behalf of the student body. Two members were elected by each class: Ruth Bauman and Willis Proudfoot, seniors; Dorothy Laskey and Homer Conzett, juniors; Mary Mohrman and Robert MacAskill, sophomores; and Elsie Jansen and Bruce Freeman, freshmen. During the second semester Grace Herrmann was chosen by the sophomore class to occupy the position held by Mary Mohrman.

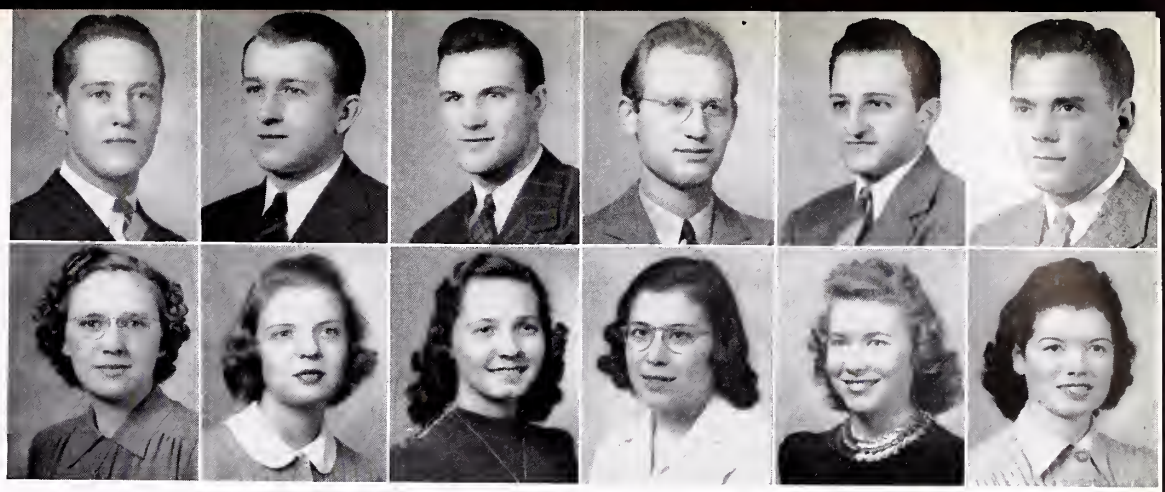

Ethelda Norberg, junior, was elected president of the council and student body in an all-school election. Other officers, elected by the council, were: Homer Conzett, vice-president; Dorothy Laskey, secretary and Willis Proudfoot, treasurer. Professor Anson Van Eaton acted as faculty advisor.

Under the direction of the council, a Student Court was organized this year to handle disciplinary problems. Harold Nagel, Rose Langer, Paul Ukena and Jacob Ohanesian were elected by the Student Council to act in this capacity. Ruth Bauman was chosen to represent the council on the court. Jacob Ohanesian was elected by the court to serve as judge and Grace Herrmann, to assume the position of clerk.

Early in the fall, the Student Council, in cooperation with the administration, sponsored a Freshman Convocation, which will hereafter be an annual event. To promote student talent and present interesting material from the various departments, the council sponsored bi-weekly student assemblies. The Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Fund and the Infantile Paralysis Membership Drive were both taken over by the council this year. The social life of the students was enlivened by three council dances: the "Football Frolic," the "Holiday Hop" and the second annual "Flunker's Fling."

One of the most important and successful undertakings of the Student Council, in cooperation with the administration, was a public forum series on the current international situation. These forums were held on four consecutive Tuesday evenings with Professor H. Clifford Fox, Dr. Richard Hertz, Dr. Hans Kirchberger and Dr. Frederick Bronkema, respectively, delivering the main address on each Tuesday.

A survey of general conditions in the Commons was conducted by the council. The results were tabulated and submitted to the administration with suggestion for improvements. Other activities of the council included weekly meetings, correspondence with other schools concerning their student governments and cooperation with the faculty in various student activities.

House Councils

● The Steffens Hall Dormitory Association exists for the purpose of maintaining high standards of conduct and fostering fellowship and responsibility among the residents of the men's dormitory.

Seven students from different sections of the dormitory are elected by the residents each year to aid in carrying out the objectives. This year's council was composed of Dwight Stover, president; Erwin Schwartz, vice-president; Walter Fosha, secretary-treasurer; Jake Ohanesian, social chairman; Eugene Werkheiser, Paul Horne and Clyde Schap.

Among the activities for the improvement of living conditions in the dormitory was the installation of a buzzer system, two extra telephone outlets, and purchasing of additional equipment for the fourth floor lounge. Plans were also begun for a more centralized lounge to be located on third floor. The third annual penny carnival, sponsored by the Council was again held in March.

The Severance Hall council is elected annually by the residents of that dormitory. The chief concern is that the dormitory be made as near a home for the girls as is possible and that life in it contribute something to the vital college experience of every girl residing there.

Members of this year's council included Georgia Baker, president; Billie Franzenburg, vice-president; Margery Deale, secretary - treasurer; Dorothy Laskey, Anna Tjaden, and Jeanette Harken.

The duties of the council consist in the enforcement of house rules, orientation of freshman and transfer students ,and promotion of social activities. Among the activities this year were the annual Christmas party for town girls, and two Sunday morning breakfasts in the main parlor of Severance.

CAMPUS LIFE

Parade of Events

Queens

Parade of Events

● In the spring, a young man's fancy lightly turns to—well, romance among other things, but social events mostly. Sororities and fraternities packed up for a week-end and went to flunk week camps where canoeing and consequent stiff muscles, and stout cases of sunburn could do nothing to dim the ardor for camping idleness. After all—tests awaited us.

The May Breakfast was successful despite the coolish weather which accompanied it. A freshman's imitations of campus personalities brought down the house. We ate our doughnuts without dunking, had a few good hearty laughs and let class prejudice creep in, for seniors were given precedence sitting at the head tables and so on down to the verdant freshmen. To cap pleasure with pain, we were all herded to class rooms afterwards to take a grueling test on current affairs and culture in which we learned conclusively that we knew nothing at all outside of who won the World Series.

The YWCA sponsored its annual May Fete with Marian Junker as May Queen and head of a glamorous court. The pageant is lovelier and lovelier year after year. This year a Shakespearean play "Taming of the Shrew" was produced to the queen's pleasure. Professor Eyssen himself played a dashing Patruchio and Jane Nowlin a very shrewish shew who was properly tamed in the end.

Louise Eisenschmidt ruled at the annual Prom which was a stately and beautiful dance put on by the juniors.

Tests came very suddenly in the midst of jewel-like weather. We took them on the chin and sneaked our hikes to Rabbit Hollow and such places in between. The seniors were finished a week early and were busy being recepted and partied and showing off their newly acquired dignity.

There were a brief few days of commencement activities and with familiar faces returned to the campus to see 75 students get degrees at St. Luke's—an academic procession marched to the strains of the Alma Mater and the seniors were privileged to feel sad.

Summer school offered the innovation of a tri-state biological station at Camp Shawondassee where laboratory work at the U was correlated with field work on the Mississippi. Turtles and snakes came in for their proper due.

The campus was put into spic and span order for the fall invasion. Dorm rooms were painted, additions in equipment were made, and even the flowerbeds were primped to look their best.

The largest enrollment was announced in September when it passed the 500 mark. Chinese, Puerto Rican, Japanese, Czech, Korean and Bulgarian students arrived in a steady stream. The freshmen were all properly oriented by the new orientation council headed by Bernice Jacobs and developed a class solidarity of their own by living in a separate section of the dorm where they had a chance to discuss the upperclassmen before they arrived.

Green caps dotted the campus, but they lost the right to discard them at Homecoming by losing the freshmen-sophomore tug-of-war. A picnic supper in back of the Commons was really the first chance old timers had to say hello after the vacation. Everyone was too busy being well mannered at the President's reception to do much talking. The Cue began a new year with Margery Deale again as editor.

There were innovations to both our social and scholastic life. . The student court was instituted by the student council to handle disciplinary problems on the supposition that a student might rather be heard by his fellows than by faculty or administration. Jake Ohanesian was elected judge.

The year began with the holding of Sunday church services every Sunday in the chapel with the Rev. C. Vin White in charge. An excellent chapel choir under Mr. McKeown, attired in new vestments, added to the dignity and beauty of this student service.

C.A.A. was started on our campus as part of the defense program. Nine boys and one girl enlisted in the flying course, going down to the airport regularly for lessons, attending classes both on our campus and at Loras and taking flights to Waterloo to finish the course. A great deal of interest was displayed.

Forrest Conway, a University student, made himself known in October by winning an audition on Major Bowes program on which he distinguished himself. Later in the fall he gave a piano concert which due to freakishness on the part of the electric light system had to be played entirely by candlelight. Everyone voted it very romantic.

We were provided with entertainment—the Christmas caroling slumber party given by the dorm girls for the town girls, the Christmas hop which was the female's last leap year chance, the Y skating party. And we were culturally uplifted too, for there were the Civic music concerts, the Zeimers who told us of Hitler's regime, and Arragon, who as a history scholar, was as interested in us as we in him.

Homecoming was as usual a highlight in the lives of the Universityites—in those of the freshmen because everything was still a little thrilling, in those of the upper classmen because it was good to see old faces back in the old places—the goats, by the radiators in Steffens, perched on the walls by Severance.

We celebrated with a rousing good pep bonfire to get the team's spirit up on Friday night and managed well enough for the team came through with a victory the next day. Everyone enjoyed the dinner where speakers, singing and just good conversation were entertainment enough. Sally Janet Vail ruled as football sweetheart at the evening's dance after having been introduced at the half of the afternoon's game. Homecoming always seems to arouse one's Alma Mater feeling, and this was no exception.

The U-Clan—a 1940 brainchild was right there at all the games, at home and abroad and showed lots of school spirit in all ways. Perhaps they own a larger share in the season's largest victory — the conference championship. That was something we had wanted for a long time, and it came as a very definite feather in the hats of the coaches and teams —a feather which was enthusiastically shared by the student body and that band of loyal supporters — The Blue and White Club. The fellows were properly banqueted and awarded.

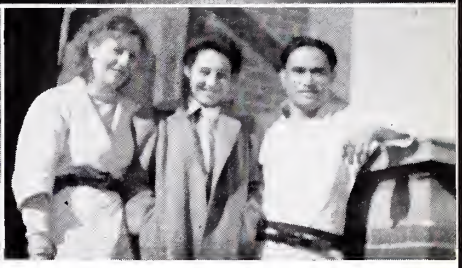

Christmas vacation, a 17 day one, over — everybody piled down to the library to see what was behind all this term paper talk. You could hardly rouse anyone to wish him a happy new year. No wonder they got the idea of enlarging the library reading room by moving all the stacks downstairs. We did need the room!

January found the reappearance of pledge pins. Hell week found its place again, too, and what a place. The largest number of students in years pledged fraternities and sororities—with the 13-Club taking the largest number—and quite fittingly so at that, this being the year of their twenty-fifth anniversary. The athletic teams worked on their schedules while the Seminary chalked up a victory against one of the intramural teams. The choir spent extra hours in rehearsal for that New York debut in March. The orchestra made their winter appearance. The dramatic students hailed the return of Professor Eyssen from Iowa City and the beginning of rehearsals on the play "Margin for Error," while the debaters and orators did their incessant reading and note taking.

There were dances by the Purple Masque, the Alpha Psi Omega, the Washington dinner-dance, a series of student-council-sponsored open forums on the international situation, a new group of student fliers, and announcement that seventy-three students had struggled through for honor roll mention for the semester. But the most joyous celebration during February and for the entire school year came when the Spartan cagers defeated Parsons College to be named conference champions. A day off, special victory assembly, chicken in the Commons, a WKBB sponsored radio broadcast and a six-page blue issue of the Cue all symbolized the occasion. And why not—for conference history was made—the first team in the conference to claim both football and basketball honors in one year.

The wrestlers took first place in the Wheaton mat meet.

March found the choristers New York bound, the basketball squad at the national meet and Schulz with his wrestlers in Pittsburgh. The Waiters Dance was hailed as the neatest dance of the year under the supervision of Steve Wieland and hostess of the dining hall, Marian Junker. Fred Shandorf placed first in the oratorical contest. And we can't forget that grand penny carnival sponsored by the boys of Steffens.

Student Council members opened the month of

Parade of Events

April with a big dance in the Commons. Debaters took superior ratings in the state meet. The intersorority formal was a great success. Tracksters had begun their season.

Then in a big rush, photographers . . . layouts . . . makeup . . . proofreading . . . printers . . . work! work! and finally . . . the 1942 KEY is out. And as it comes another May Fete and breakfast has already passed. Students are looking forward to another flunk week. The date for the prom has been set. Another class is preparing itself for public inspection—the largest number of graduates ever. Yes, we at Dubuque are interested in world affairs — we take economics, don't we? But right now our world is bordered by a gym, a girls' dorm, a seminary, a Commons and an Administration building, and because that world is a very pleasant one, we'll just wish those concerned with it a happy return next fall with a year filled with as interesting and exciting happenings as the one just passing.

Queens

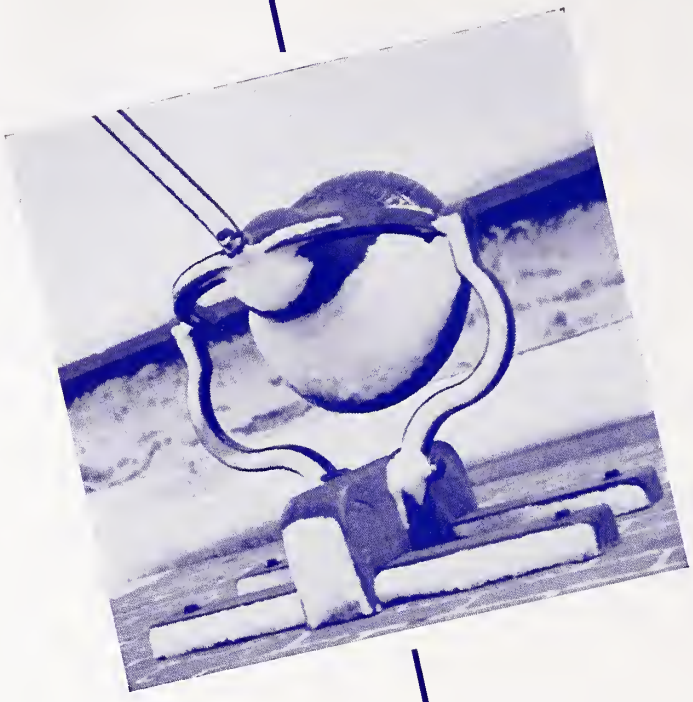

● Each campus has its queens, and Dubuque is no exception. As the 1940 Queen of the May, lovely Marian Junker, junior co-ed from Watertown, South Dakota, was elected by popular vote of the student body to reign at a beautiful and stately program in McCormick gymnasium, which is followed each year by a Shakespearean play. The play presented at this year's May Fete was "Taming of the Shrew." Georgia Baker, junior co-ed from Farley, Iowa, attended her as maid-of-honor.

At the junior prom which came that same month, Louise Eisenschmidt of the junior class was elected queen.

Last fall, 19-year-old Sally Janet Vail a member of the class of 1942 was chosen by the Champion Spartan men of the gridiron as the homecoming queen.

Selected by the staffs of the KEY and CUE, Miss Viola Tibbitts, freshman from Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, was entered in the Drake Relays Queen contest. She is a lovely brunette, with brown eyes and is active in many phases of the extra-curricular program. Miss Tibbitts was chosen on the basis of intelligence, beauty, personality, and poise. Regardless of the outcome of the Drake contest, she is indeed a queen in her own right.

Chosen for beauty and by popularity, these four queens added much to Dubuque traditions.

Football Coaches Schulz and Mercer

● The spotlight grew brighter and brighter in the sports field during the 1940-41 seasons, as championship teams began to appear in every phase of inter-collegiate athletics. In the Iowa Conference records UNIVERSITY OF DUBUQUE appeared at the top in tennis, football, and basketball standings, as each season came to its end. "U" wrestlers added their share of glory by defeating almost every team to come within their grasp.

Coaches Mercer, Schulz, Peterson, and Wight, aided by returning lettermen and a host of versatile freshmen, won the respect of sports followers all over the Middle-west by bringing Dubuque teams up from the cellar positions, which they had occupied too long, to the championship posts.

It all started in the spring, when Coach Wight's net-men refused to bow to any of their opponents. Not to be outdone by their fellow athletes, the football huskies proceeded to terrorize their foes into submission in the fall. Came winter and the record was upheld by the wrestlers and cage heroes who romped their way through victory after victory.

Student body, alumni, and townspeople soon caught the victory spark, and Blue and White teams were supported more than ever before. McCormick gym, although packed to the rafters, refused to admit all of the "U" fans to basketball games.

UNIVERSITY OF DUBUQUE became a common sight on all Middle-west sport pages, and fame was ours,—by way of coaches, players, supporters, and undefeated teams!

Spartans of 1940-41, the class of 1942 proudly salutes you.

● Coach Peterson's track men, for the third consecutive year finished the dual meet season without a defeat. Medal after medal and trophy after trophy were won by the harriers as they took part in the Beloit, Drake and Viking relays. Numerous records fell during the season. The team won the Vikings affair and took second in the Iowa conference meet. The relays team did the starring at Beloit, where their new record now stands and at Drake, where they swept the two events for Iowa loop schools.

With several additions to the team this year, Peterson's stars of the cinder tracks are in line to add to the list of Spartan's 1941 victories.

Kneeling—Egelhof, Edwards.
Standing—Knautz, Conzett, Peterson.

● Coach Ed Wight's netsters did it again for the fourth consecutive year when they swept the Iowa conference tennis meet held at Eagle Point Park. Bob Peterson for the third year won the singles title and teamed with Dave Knautz to win the doubles. It was Peterson's fourth doubles win.

The winning of the conference title again came as a climax to the undefeated dual match season enjoyed by the team. Peterson is the only netster lost by graduation. With four lettermen back this year, the Spartans have chances for another championship. Bob Peterson is coaching the team this season due to the resignation last January of Coach Wight.

Trainer, Manager

● Usually the forgotten faction on an athletic team are the trainer and manager, but in reality they are the ones who play a large role in keeping up the spirit of the players.

Maksim will be graduated in June, and as a manager he will be hard to replace. He has had the welfare of the boys at heart; he worked steadily with them for two years in basketball and football. Fitzpatrick, known as "Doc" in athletic circles for his valuable services as Spartan trainer, performed a commendable work.

As trainer and manager of the championship Spartans, Fitzpatrick and Maksim are to be heartily congratulated.

Maksim, Fitzpatrick

Cheerleaders

Pepoff, Joseph, Skinner, Reiff, Harken

● Five active cheerleaders filled with vim, vigor and vitality led the student body and visitors in supporting the champion Spartans.

Their achievements were many. They accomplished their main goal of waking the fans from their peaceful sleeping posts up on the bleachers. Uniformity in color and action was the keynote of their success.

In this group of loyal Spartans are Irvin Reiff, Park Ridge, Illinois; Norman Joseph, Chicago, Illinois; Phyllis Pepoff, Gary, Indiana; Jeannette Harken, Austinville, Iowa; and Margaret Skinner of Rockford, Illinois.

● Girls' Athletics this year, consisted wholly of intramural activities: tennis, badminton, deck tennis, basketball, and archery. Since there was no varsity basketball this year, inter-class games were held with a combination team of juniors and seniors defeating the freshmen and sophomores. The winning team was composed of Dorothy Cords, Leah Conzett, Esther Shefelbine, Annabelle Wieland, Billie Franzenburg and Helen Humke.

Ruth Cords, Dubuque, in her freshman year, won the 1940 singles tennis tournament by defeating her sister Dorothy. Helen Humke, as a sophomore, retained her badminton title, defeating Ruth Cords, while Margaret Hirsch ran off with deck tennis honors, winning over Dorothy Cords. Margaret also took first in archery, a newly organized sport on the campus.

Helen Humke took honors at the 1940 annual spring track meet with a score of fifteen points, earned by winning three firsts. Kathleen Cusenbary came in second with a score of ten points earned by winning two firsts and Dorothy Cords placed third with eight points.

Helen Humke (pictured below) was the only one to earn a letter, which is obtained by earning 500 points in the various sports.

University Church

● At the request of the students, the University Church was newly organized on the campus this year, with the following objectives in mind: to provide a Sunday morning worship service for those students living on the campus and not identified with any local church; and to help in the support of various phases of missionary work with the free-will offerings received.

To govern this new organization seven students were elected by a group of approximately thirty - five representative students. Those elected were Dorothy Drake, Frances Harms, Muriel Putnam, Robert Allen, Robert MacAskill, William Duitsman, and Anna Tjaden, who served as clerk of the session. There are also several committees which work under this body and co-operate in preparing the worship services.

The pastor and moderator of the student governing group is Rev. C. V. White, dean of the Seminary. Occasionally, guest speakers are invited. Music is provided by the chapel choir under the direction of Professor Reynauld McKeown, while Ted Pape acts as organist. Bulletins for the services are donated by Mr. E. J. Boell, of the Dubuque Presbyterian Press.

Throughout the year, Sunday attendance has been one hundred to one hundred and fifty students. The offerings were sent to aid such organizations as The American Friend's Service Committee, American Mission to Lepers, the Infantile Paralysis Fund, World Student Service Fund, Chinese Children's Fund, and the American Bible Society.

A Cappella Choir

● Numerous successes of past years have spurred the University A Cappella Choir on to still further achievement this current season. The choir has been acclaimed by capable critics as one of the most outstanding in the country.

Robed in black gowns with white surplices of original design the choir of forty-five voices makes a striking and impressive appearance. Tone quality and sensitiveness of shading, combined with effective dynamics, accuracy of pitch, and blend of voices, produces a choir that demands the attention and admiration of audiences everywhere. For years the choir has stood on its own merits and has been praised for its excellent conduct and its true rendition of a Sermon in Song.

The repertoire of the Choir is composed of choral masterpieces from the 16th century to the present time. Included are works of Palestrina, Bach, and Mendelssohn, as well as modern Russian and American composers. An added feature of the program this year is the inclusion of a group of old familiar hymns of the Church.

The 15th Annual Spring tour, the greatest that the Choir has ever before realized, was made from March 2-17, and included concerts in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York.

New York Tour

● This year marked the beginning of a new musical program on the campus created by the music department and under the direction of Professor Reynold McKeown.

The objectives of this group, the chapel choir, are two-fold: first, to build a church music program at the University of Dubuque; and secondly, to make the University a vital force in the improvement of music in churches of this area.

This choir is composed of twenty-eight voices, two groups of fourteen each to sing at regular chapel periods in alternate weeks, the entire group assembling for special occasions. In addition to singing for regular chapel periods, during which its function was primarily congregational singing, there were several unique activities such as special musical services and seasonal concerts at Christmas and Easter. During the Holiday Season this year the choir, in connection with the chapel orchestra, presented a group of Christmas carols and a cantata, "The Holy Night."

In addition to its campus activities the chapel choir has in mind a ministry of music to Dubuqueland churches. In this field it works in co-operation with Seminary students and members of the Gospel Team in spreading church hymnology to smaller parishes.

Band and Orchestra

● Under the leadership of Ferdinand Di Tella the University of Dubuque has maintained its position as one of the best small college bands in the Middle West.

At the beginning of the year, they served as a clinic band for music teachers at the Northeast Iowa Teachers Convention. This clinic enabled band directors to hear new music played before ordering it for their own groups.

The band provided music for football and basketball games, pep meetings, and other extra-curricular activities. They ended the year with the annual outdoor concert. This concert was given on the campus the last Sunday of the school year.

The program of the sixty-five piece symphony orchestra included two concerts this year. The first was a Popular Concert, given on January 24 in Peters Commons. This program included: Largo from the New World Symphony by Dvorak; Tales from the Vienna Woods by Strauss; and the Mississippi Suite by Grofe.

Having an especially accomplished group of instrumentalists this year, Mr. Di Tella was able to present a second concert of classical numbers. The program consisted of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony Mendelssohn's Concert for the Violin, with Miss Ruth Bauman as soloist and two movements from Mrs. Di Tella's "Mines of Spain." This concert closed a successful year of orchsetra work.

● The first play of the year, "The Late Christopher Bean" was directed by Mrs. D. C. Eyssen and presented during the Homecoming festivities, October 17 and 18. This play is the story of a family of New Englanders who have given refuge to an artist, Chris Bean. Ten years after Bean's death his paintings receive honor; the play deals with the Hagget family's reactions to this turn of events.

"Margin for Error" is a two-act satire on Nazi Germany and was presented February 27, 28, and March 1. It is concerned with ridiculing Nazi attempts at freeing the oppressed minorities of America and placing them under the Reich. The play revolves around the death of Consul Baumer.

Debate

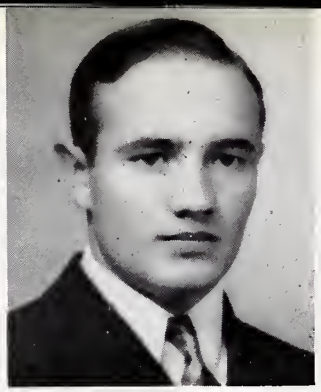

● Debaters of the University of Dubuque concentrated their 1940 - 41 forensic activities on the official Pi Kappa Delta question: "Resolved, that the nations of the Western Hemisphere should form a permanent union."

Active intercollegiate debating began on December 14 when Platteville Teachers, Wartburg and DeKalb accepted an invitation to the annual University Round Robin Tournament. Here a good beginning was made when Dubuque won seven and lost one debate to win the meet.

Following semester exams Dubuque debaters engaged in a number of dual contests both at the University and in neighboring colleges in preparation for the coming tournaments. Four debaters, Wendell Kepner, Robert Collier, Fred Shandorf, and Harold Nagel, made the trip to the annual Northwest Debate Tourney at St. Paul. Fred Shandorf and Harold Nagel represented the University at the tournament of the Forensic Association of Iowa Colleges at Cedar Rapids and received a superior ranking in debate. Fred tried for first in oratory and Harold won first in extemporaneous speaking to end their collegiate debating careers.

The officers of the Iowa Lambda chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity, on the Dubuque campus were: Harold Nagel, president; Robert Collier, vice-president Marguerite Walsh, secretary - treasurer; and Robert Allen, reporter. Other members are Albert Scheele and Fred Shandorf. Two other debaters, Hercules Timpton and Wendell Kepner, became eligible for membership.

● For fifteen minutes each day, Monday through Friday ,the University of Dubuque extends its services and greetings into the homes of the Tri-State Area through the medium of the University Air Forum. This program, which emanates from the new radio studio and speech room in Steffens Hall, is broadcast over station WKBB at four o'clock and each program is opened and closed to the strains of our Alma Mater.

Naturally the Air Forum attempts to present a picture of the activities in the University of Dubuque but in addition to this a concerted effort is made to offer valuable information and services to the whole community. A very valuable by-product of this is the training given to students in the technique of radio.

The program series of 1940-41 included suggestions on home making, party planning, menus, and national food problems by the department of home economics. Dr. H. S. Ficke and the department of English presented discussions of language, literature, and interesting historical data. The Rev. Mr. C. Vin White gave a weekly review of religion in the news, and the Cue staff presented discussions of University affairs. The department of music featured many of its talented students in musical programs, and each broadcasting week was concluded with a discussion of the International Sunday School Lessons by Dr. John A. Garber. Dr. George is the head of the faculty radio committee and Harold Nagel has been the student announcer for the past three years.

Radio

Student Fliers

● An innovation into campus curricular this year was the Civil Pilots Training Course which, in its essence, is a government project to train college students to the rudiments of flying. One semester's work was required to pass the course. From a large group of students who took the preliminary written and physical exams ten would-be pilots survived, the number allowed by the course.

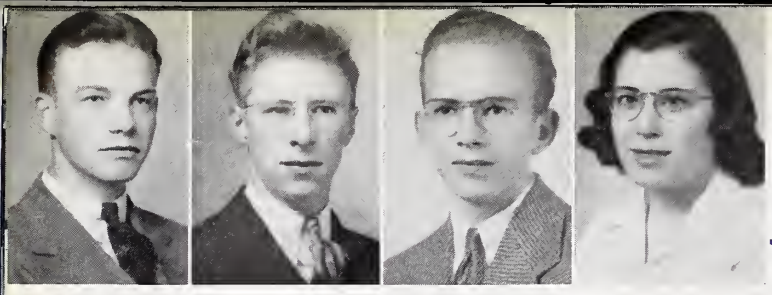

The student was required to pay a small tuition fee for the course, the rest of which was paid by the government. Ground School instruction was in charge of Dr. Robert Wilson, head of the department of physics, and actual flight tutoring was provided at the Dubuque Municipal airport. At the end of the course each student-pilot was required to make a cross-country flight, which proved to excite numerous adventure.

Those enrolled in the first semester course were: Milos Hlavacek, Norman Hanna, Yorke Gunn, Kathleen Cusenbary, George Best, Homer Conzett, Lawrence Tooker, Frank Buckley, Sherry Dare and Milton Conzett. Those enrolled in the second semester program were: Klyph Kruse, Richard Folsom, Clyde Schap, William Klotz, Albert Ujlaky, Glenn Williams, Charles Ryan, John Mueller, Herbert Trapp, and Evelyn Johns.

The program was under the authorization of the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Standing—Instructor Madison, Hlavacek, Hanna, Gunn, Cusenbary, Best, H. Conzett.
Sitting—Tooker, Buckley, Dare, M. Conzett.

The Cue

● Employing a staff of over thirty students, the CUE again provided an excellent opportunity for the journalistically inclined to gain practical experience. Under the direction of Margery Deale as editor, it continued its presentation of a living record of life at the University of Dubuque.

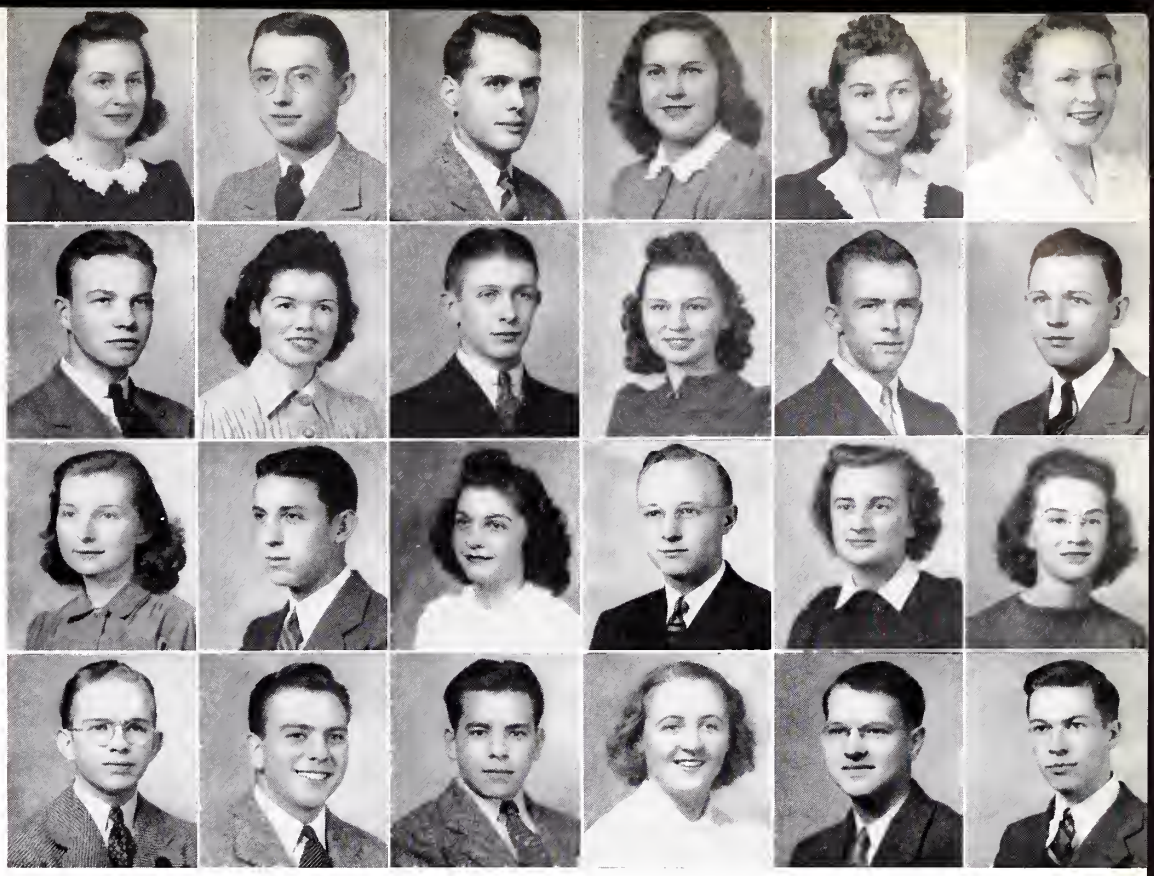

In its sixth year of publication, it has maintained its high standings, and was again a member of the Associated Collegiate Press.

The CUE this year sponsored a bi-weekly radio broadcast from the studio in Steffens on the University air forum.

Assisting Miss Deale on the staff was Calvin Ukena as associate editor. Clifford Kruse was in charge of finances. Al Ney handled sports. Other students who contributed important services were Elwin Davis, photographer; Lawrence Palmer, feature editor; Marguerite Walsh, department editor; Billie Franzenburg, music editor; Vera Martindale, editor of religion; Joan Curtis, seminary; Claire Schwanebeck, alumni; Ted Pape, fraternity; Betty Daykin, sorority. DeLite May served as chief proof-reader being assisted by Betty Blondin, Helen Van Sant, Madalynne Heimbeck. A sizeable staff of reporters and feature writers gave regularly of their time.

Chi Epsilon Phi

Chi Ep Activities

● "Christ Our Ideal" is the motto of this pre-theological fraternity. Its purpose is to provide Christian fellowship and sympathetic understanding for students preparing for the Gospel ministry.

In 1937, Dr. S. S. George and President Welch, realizing the need for such an organization, approved the proposed brotherhood. During the same year Reuben Tjaden, as president, led the fraternity in a successful beginning. Three years later a national Chi Epsilon Phi was organized in collaboration with Hanover College, Hanover, Indiana. Many other colleges have long been looking forward to such a national fraternity, of which the University group is happy and proud to be the Alpha chapter.

Highlights of the year were talks by Dr. S. S. George, who was chosen as an honorary member, on "The Present Challenge to the Ministry," by Dean C. Vin White on "Ministerial Responsibility" and by Professor Jacob Bajema on "Intellect in Religion." Another memorable event was the pledging banquet and service at which President Welch and Reuben Tjaden delivered the principle addresses. There were also special conferences with Dr. Louis Evans, Religious Emphasis leader, with Catherine Parker, field secretary of the Student Volunteer movement, and with Roy McCorkel, secretary of the inter-seminary movement, world-wide lecturer and traveler.

Panel discussions on such topics as "The Justification of Peace-time Conscription," "Religion and Science," and "The Attitude the Church Should Take Toward the Present World Conflict" provided opportunity for the exchange of information and opinions on these vital issues.

Plans are being made to end this highly successful year of activity with an outing for flunk week.

Gospel Team

● Students of all countries, races, faiths and denominations on the campus of the University compose the Gospel Team. These are not isolated students who are preparing for the ministry or other forms of Christian service, but are those who find joy in carrying the message of the Gospel to others. They find in this service an opportunity to put into action their Christian convictions.

Directly under the supervision of the Y.W.C.A. and the Y.M.C.A., this year the activities of the Gospel Team were supervised by Muriel Putnam, representative of the former, and Richard Norton, representing the latter. Dr. John A. Garber is the faculty advisor.

The group seeks to help others to find Christ by bringing inspiring messages to them in word and song, developing in others and in themselves a deeper devotion for Him and His service and promoting fellowship in the true spirit of Christian living. This year more students than ever before, including many foreign students, have participated in its activities. Regular programs of the group include a service the second Sunday of each month at Sunny Crest Sanatorium and a service every week at the City Mission. Churches of the city and surrounding territory also benefit by the work of this organization. During the past year members have extended their work to the campus, also, by providing fellowship meetings on Sunday evenings for students who desire such a program. These varied services and programs make the Gospel Team a vital force on the campus and in this territory.

Student Volunteers

● The program of the Student Volunteers is based on the following objectives: to disseminate missionary intelligence; to sustain a feeling of oneness of purpose with the missionaries in service; to lead the members into a fuller appreciation of the present missionary program of the church to share in intercessary prayer for the world work of missionaries and the people whom they serve; to challenge the students with the needs of the missionary fields of today and; to engage in missionary activity as the opportunity presents itself.

Regular meetings are held twice each month, and special meetings are called whenever missionaries are available. The speakers this year were: Marian Swalve, missionary to the Sioux Indian Reservation in South Dakota; Dr. Alva King, secretary of the General Council; Dr. Louis H. Evans, president of the Board of National Missions; Dr. G. Gordon Mahy, field secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions; Miss Katharine Parker, field secretary of the Student Volunteer movement; and Reverend Percy Ipalook, pastor, Wainwright, Alaska. Four of the members, Marian Swalve, Frances Harms, Lloyd Fonken and Edward Dirks, spent the summer of 1940 at Pine Ridge, South Dakota, assisting Dr. Lay with his work among the Sioux Indians. Marian Swalve is continuing with this work throughout the year.

Officers for the year were: Frances Harms, president; Calvin Willemssen, vice-president and William Duitsman, secretary-treasurer. Dr. John A. Garber served as advisor.

● Spiritual, mental, physical, and social development is the aim of the YWCA. Accordingly, programs for 1940-41 were designed to further a working Christian spirit and individual religious growth; to foster a closer companionship and cooperation among girls of all types, cliques, classes and races; to bring more girls into active club participation; to broaden knowledge of, and to stimulate interest in, domestic and international events and relationships; and to create an awareness of our place in the world of today.

With a membership of one hundred and twenty-five girls, the organization began its work under the able direction of Louise Eisenschmidt as president. Assisting her were Hilda Balster, vice-president; Doris Kaehr, secretary; and Elizabeth Powers, treasurer. Faculty advisors included Mrs. George, Miss Maurine Happ and Mrs. Zuker. Among the cabinet members chosen for special fields of endeavor were Margery Deale and Mary Etta Wilson, social co-chairmen; Joan Curtis, service chairman; Georgia Baker, devotional; Grace Herrmann, music; Florence Baker, historian; Ethelda Norberg and Aldeen Zuker, membership; Claire Schwanebeck and Marguerite Walsh, publicity; Muriel Putnam, gospel team.

"The Y's Way" formed the theme for a very diversified, interesting and inspirational program. The season was highlighted by an impressive Candlelight Recognition Service and Tea; a YM-YW skate fest; a demonstration lecture on "Coediquette Make-Up"; a student debate, "The Donkey and the Elephant" "What Is Our ;Part?" by Miss Jeanne Hardie, Red Cross representative; a Hallowe'en spook hike at Eagle Point Park; the review of "Family Portrait" by Mr. Dick; and "Christian Ethics" by the Reverend C. Vin White.

Among the annual activities sponsored by the organization were the YM-YW picnic for freshmen at Eagle Point Park, the all-school Christmas Banquet and Nativity Pageant, the distribution of Thanksgiving baskets to needy families, the Mother's Day Tea, the World Fellowship Banquet, and the May Fete.

● With the purpose of developing Christian personality and building a more effective Christian society, the YMCA has sought to enlarge the vision of young men for service and leadership. The goals for 1940-41 were to gain a better understanding of current domestic and international problems, to aid service organizations in the city in helping the needy, to provide a closer fellowship among the students and to promote a fuller religious growth on the campus.

Heading a membership of approximately fifty were Arthur Host, president; Tom Bell, vice-president; Robert Wilson, secretary; and Wendell Kepner, treasurer. To assist in carrying out the program five additional cabinet members were appointed: program, Paul Ukena; service, LeRoy Loats; music, Ted Pape; chaplain, Robert MacAskill; and publicity, Walter Silkworth. Dr. John A. Garber is the YMCA faculty advisor.

Assisting in the orientation of new students into dormitory and campus life was the initial event on the YMCA calendar. As part of this program they joined with the YWCA in giving a picnic at Eagle Point Park. After the initiation of new members, the two Y organizations sponsored a roller-skating party. Student stump speeches enlivened a mock-presidential campaign in line with the goal to interest its members in the vital issues of the day. In one of the outstanding meetings of the fall, Dr. Goldsmith spoke on "Your Girl Friend and Heredity."

As a service organization the YMCA provided ushers for the chapel and distributed Thanksgiving baskets for the needy of the city.

Religious Education Fellowship

● In the spring of 1940 a new fellowship was formed on the campus—the Religious Education Fellowship. By drawing up a constitution and electing officers for the year 1940-41, the charter members provided for the continuation of their aims, which are: to foster fellowship among students who intend to devote their lives to Christian education; to provide for a group which can discuss certain phases of the work of the religious educator not fully covered in class or texts; to guide and inspire the members with a sense of the vocational value of the educational ministry of the church; and to cultivate a fervent spirit and desire to live in the way of the Master Teacher.

Officers for the year were Muriel Putnam, chairman; Lois West, vice-chairman; and Newell Brink, secretary. Dr. John A. Garber is the faculty advisor.

U - Clan

Enjoying its second year of success, marked by two conference championship teams for which to cheer, the U-Clan has almost doubled its membership. Organized with the avowed purpose of creating and maintaining more pep and school spirit, this group has sponsored pep meetings and led organized cheering from its solidly-packed reserved section at all football and basketball games.

The three member - cheerleaders, Jeanette Harken, Phyllis Pepoff and Peggy Skinner, have joined with the cheerleaders chosen by the student body, Norman Joseph and Irvin Reiff, to lead students and outside spectators alike to a new high in university pep and school spirit.

Purple Masque

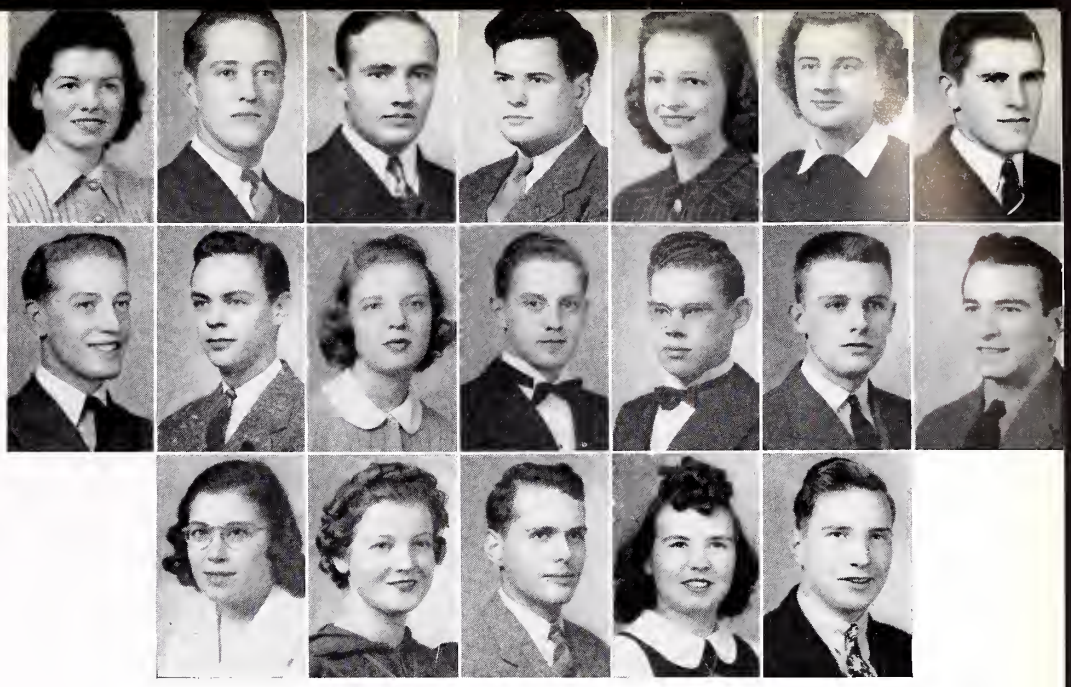

The Purple Masque, freshman dramatic club, is sponsored by Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatic fraternity, to foster an interest in dramatics among freshmen, to give them a foundation for future stage work and to prepare them for membership in Alpha Psi Omega.

At the beginning of the year there were about twenty-five members. Several more were admitted later in the year. The officers elected were Beatrice Meagher, president; Viola Tibbitts, vice-president; June Jennings, secretary; Robert Jamme, treasurer; and Virgil Sharp, reporter. The club's activities were under the direction of Professor Donald C. Eyssen, dramatic instructor.

In addition to its dramatic work, which included the presentation of a one-act play, The Purple Masque had a scavenger hunt and sponsored a Valentine Dance. Several of its members took part in the all-school plays, worked on stage crews and ushered for the major productions.

Alpha Psi Omega

● The Delta Zeta chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity, has been active on this campus since 1937. Officers are installed and neophytes initiated each year at a breakfast held at Eagle Point park, at which Shakespeare is recited from the balcony of the Indian lodge while bacon and eggs cook over an open fire.

The fraternity has instituted the custom of entertaining dramatically inclined freshmen at an evening party each fall, and from this group Prof. Eyssen has spotted much of the talent used throughout the year. The organization of the Purple Masque, freshman dramatic society, took place as usual at this gathering in the fall.

At a dinner held early in February, four neophytes by virtue of their active participation in dramatics, became regular members of Alpha Psi — Billie Franzenburg, Wilbert Beeners, Denes Balo and Betty Blondin. In order to gain membership in the fraternity, students must spend a specified number of hours in theatre work.

The Alpha Psi dance night which was held in February featuring entertainment by the various fraternities and sororities, was a decided success. A formal initiation dinner was held in the spring.

Officers for the year 1940-41 were — Margery Deale, president; Harold Nagel, vice president; Walter Fosha, secretary-treasurer; Hilda Balster, historian.

D Club

● Only those students who have earned major "D's" in wrestling, football, basketball, track or tennis and who have attained a sophomore scholastic standing are eligible for membership in the D Club, one of the most active organizations on the campus.

Important social as well as athletic events are sponsored by this group. The Homecoming Dance, one of the biggest events of the year, and an annual spring all-school dance ruled by the Sports Queen, chosen by all the lettermen on the campus, were presented by the D Club.

The third Iowa Conference Decathlon Meet again was held under the auspices of the monogram club. Also, they furnished football programs for all home games, distributed basketball and football schedules and ushered at all athletic contests.

Officers for the year were: Robert Schiers, president; Robert Besch, vice-president; Herbert Trapp, secretary; and William Riedel, treasurer.

Lutheran Students' Association

The Lutheran Students' Association on the campus has made its first year of activity a successful one. This organization has attempted to provide a center for religious discussion, devotional periods and social activities for all interested students.

Officers for the year were: Johanna Kehren, president; Ethelda Norberg, vice-president; Verna Kohlenberg, secretary; and Dorothy Boyd, treasurer.

Zeta Sigma Pi

With the motto "Investigation! Discussion! Action!" the Epsilon Chapter of Zeta Sigma Pi, national honorary social science fraternity, entered its sixth year under the direction of Rose Langer, president; Arthur Host, vice-president; Richard Norton, secretary; Harold Nagel, treasurer and Eleanor Wemette, corresponding secretary.

Blue and White Club

In a year enhanced by a record membership of 125 members and conference championship teams in both football and basketball, the Blue and White Club has just completed its fourth and most successful year.

Officers for the year were: Maurice Ford, president; W. W. Dauner, first vice-president; Walter Daykin, second vice-president; and John Rider Wallis, secretary-treasurer.

Alumni Association

Each year many graduates gather on the campus of the University of Dubuque at Commencement time to renew old friendships, make new ones and to hold their annual alumni meeting.

At the close of his address, about sixty alumni gathered in Severance Parlors for their annual meeting, at which time the graduating class was inducted into membership in the association. Mrs. Ruth Emery, vice-president, in the absence of the president, Reverend William Grossheim, conducted the meeting. She was later elected president for the ensuing year. Mr. C. T. Peterson was elected vice-president.

Omicron Mu

Omicron Mu, an organization for all majors and minors in the home economics department, is one of the newest clubs on the campus. It was organized last fall under the sponsorship of Miss Blanche Bock and Mrs. May Goldsmith.

Officers of the club were: Leah Conzett, president; Jean Humke, vice-president; Vivian Blendt, secretary-treasurer; and Louise Eisenschmidt, reporter.

International Relations Club

Founded under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment Fund for International Peace, the International Relations Club seeks not only to gain an increased knowledge of world affairs for its members, but to disseminate this information among all the students.

Officers of the club were: Al Scheele, president; Arthur Host, vice-president; Fred Silkworth, secretary-treasurer; and Milos Hlavacek, program chairman.

Republican Club

Inspired by the excitement that usually accompanies a presidential election year, a number of University students organized a club to work for the election of the man best representing their viewpoint in national affairs.

Officers of the club were: Richard Henschel, president; Guerney Alzeno, vice-president; Louise Eisenschmidt, secretary; William Grings, treasurer; Francis Eberhardt, sergeant-at-arms; and Klyph Kruse, director of publicity.

Faculty Clubs

Three organized faculty groups on the campus made significant contributions to the intellectual and social welfare of the members of the faculty and their wives.

The Faculty Club is composed of faculty members. The Facultette is composed of women members of the University family.

Dr. Herman Ficke was elected to head the newest of the faculty groups, the AAUP, American Association of University Professors.

"13" Activities

● January, 1940, found the Thirteen Club with twelve new members after the rushing season was over. During the course of the rushing season's dance, theater party and banquet, the new members had been given a taste of fraternity life as the older members knew it, and they entered wholeheartedly into the spirit and the activities of the fraternity. Under the guidance of our president, Milton Conzett, we then proceeded to enjoy a full season of parties throughout the winter and early spring. With the approach of May, we all looked forward with eager anticipation to our annual flunk week outing.

Friday afternoon, May 8, found us and our loads of camping equipment rolling over the highways toward our destination, Camp O'Delhi, on the shore of beautiful Lake Delhi. In spite of the rather cool and damp weather we spent an enjoyable week-end of relaxation (?) and outdoor life. A few of the fellows even ventured to plunge into the icy lake waters each morning—without doubt sure cure for early morning drowsiness, as Dr. Zuker's camera can testify. On the last day the sun finally came out, and few of the Deltas, camping down the lake from us, were even "persuaded" to go for a swim.

Probably the most appreciated fellow in camp was Marty Martinez, who turned out to be a first rate cook; and with the food we had along, we certainly appeased our hearty appetites. Some highlights of our stay included journeys up and down the lake, with numerous stops at the Delta camp, and trips into Delhi and Manchester. Also, we soon found that David Gelzer sings in his sleep and that Johnny K. sometimes has trouble finding his glasses.

It was with much regret that we finally packed up Monday and departed, leaving behind memories of one of our most pleasant and enjoyable activities of the year, and we are eagerly looking forward to this year's outing.

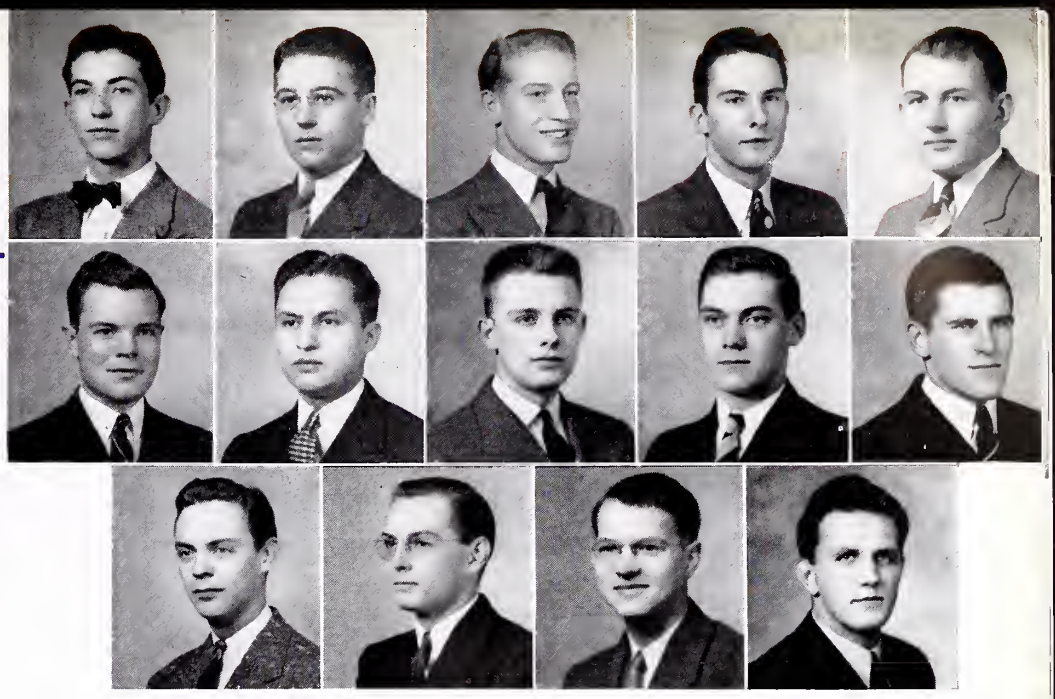

● The 13 Club, which is the oldest social fraternity on the campus, last year celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary. It was decided that a reunion banquet would be the most appropriate method of celebration. Former members responded nobly to the invitation to return to the scene of their college days, to renew old friendships and to make new ones. Approximately fifteen alumni were present, including Dr. H. C. Schneider and Rev. C. H. Hook, charter members, and Dr. Paul Buchholz, former president of the University. The occasion was one of much good fellowship and speech-making, as the former members recalled with eagerness the activities and events which they associated with their membership in the fraternity.

The 13 Club, an outgrowth of what was formerly known as the A. D. P., was organized in 1915 by a small group of men with a definite purpose in view. That purpose may briefly be summarized by Christian fraternity—implying general helpfulness as well as a closer social relationship between its several members, not only for the better shaping of their own individual characters, but also for the enhancement of a deeper, truer, and more virile college spirit. .With this as its forward purpose, the 13 Club has, in its twenty-five years of existence, richly contributed to the lives of its many members.

Athenaean Activities

● With the beginning of the 1940 school year there began a revolution in the ranks of Athenaean whereby it became apparent to all that Athenaean had begun a new era, yes, a march to greater heights than were ever before reached. Much in the manner of the famous "blitzkrieg" the A's began to swing into action. Vast supplies of unused resources were found to be just waiting the chance to do their part in the declared intention to gain the ultimate in fraternal power.

The pledging season began with an influx of a very raw corps of would-be A's. Throughout the period of proving, the conscripts did the every will of the actives and upon formal initiation emerged from the fray as full-fledged Athenaeans.

During flunk week, the largest band of A's to participate for many years took leave of their studies to make the snug little cabin on Frentress Lake their home. Though rain fell, spirits rose, and it seemed all too soon that a farewell look was in order and flunk week became another glorious memory.

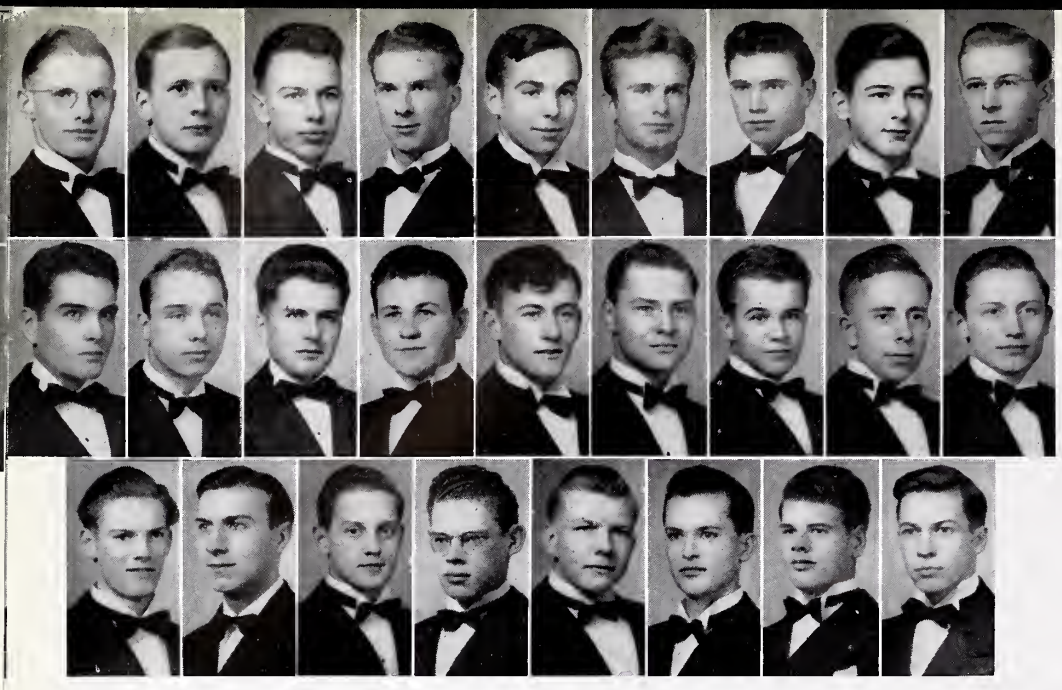

"We are starting to roll" was the phrase most used as plans were made for the future. Athenaean has always dominated the athletic life of the University, and now through its own resolve, it also determined to be first in scholarship. These resolutions were well founded, and Athenaean won second place, missing the cup by only a few tenths of a point. Not content to be second to any other fraternity, Athenaean will make an even stronger bid in the race for scholastic superiority this year.

And the A's go rolling along. The track meet title went A by virtue of a well balanced team, and then in the final athletic contest of 1940, the year was made complete by winning the basketball title with a slashing victory, the squad including seven members of the varsity team. In the first athletic tournament the A's were just not fishy enough, but they did manage to take a well earned second place in the swim meet, and in January the volleyball title was captured with ease.

The signal to go forward was given in journalism, and the result was a paper known as the "'A' Analyst." This is a bulletin sent to the alumni members of Athenaean, and is to be a quarterly publication. Fostering closer relationship between active and alumni, through its pages will come the manifestation of a sincere wish for closer brotherhood in the future.

President Ray Stumbaugh handed over his duties to Delbert Schoenhard, and in company with the new chief came Walter Fosha as vice-president, Elmer Stadel as treasurer and Robert MacAskill as secretary.

Phi Omicron

Phi O Activities

● Brotherhood and fraternity. With this as its keynote, Phi Omicron has again added to its memory another year of activity, a year which has seen its members contribute to practically every phase of school life, a year which, with its new brothers, has formed new friendships and strengthened old.

Flunk week last year started it out . . . with Ubangi and R. C. going overboard in the middle of Frentress . . . remember . . . paddling up and down the "Old Miss" . . . Reuben's head connecting with the lamp . . . poor lamp . . . the party at the Zetas . . . K. P. duties . . . the last big night with its jamboree around the Phi O campfire on the beach . . . the moonlight on the water afterwards . . . and the long pull up to Lefty's at the end.

Then in the summer . . . reliving all this at our summer get-together . . . reviving old memories and planning new ones for the coming year.

This year's fun sounded off with a Treasure Rush in Eagle Point Park . . . all for a bag of peanuts. Rush season soon set in; and Phi Omicron was busy entertaining nine pledges with a progressive dinner, a house party at Brooks', and a dance, "Over the Clouds and Under the Stars," at the YMCA. But entertaining soon changed to a different vein with weekly swing sessions and a hectic hell week with its usual ups and downs. Finally came the Founders' Day Banquet and the formal initiation with its warm handshakes and solemnity . . . creating new brothers for the fraternity. Filling out an active program were such highlights as caroling Severance Hall for cookies and cocoa . . . Lynn's big ice cream feed . . . and the pledges' theater party for the actives.

Although competition has grown stronger, Phi Omicron won the scholarship cup for the ninth consecutive time in 1940.

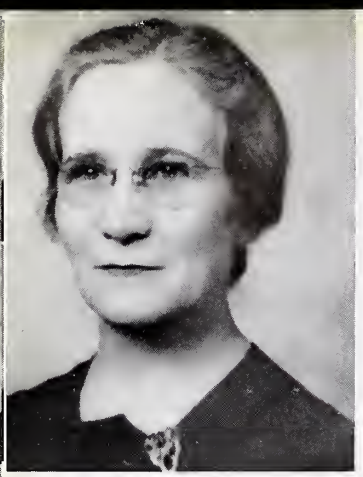

And so the Phi O's run out another successful year. This year, as from the beginning of our history, we have realized the fullest possible return from fraternity life. Again we have held up to the highest ideals of . . . brotherhood and fraternity.

Who's Who

● Each year a number of advanced students are nominated to have their biographies printed in the "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." This year seven seniors and two juniors were chosen.

To be included a student must have a combination of character, leadership, scholarship and potentialities of future usefulness to business and society.

This year's nominees included Willis Proudfoot, Wassau, Wisconsin; Ruth Bauman, Bloomington, Wisconsin; Doris Kaehr, Dubuque; Louise Eisenschmidt, Dubuque; William Holzhauer, Muscatine, Iowa; Hilda Balsters, Monticello, Iowa; Harold Nagel, Mount Carroll, Illinois; Homer Conzett, Dubuque, and Ethelda Norberg, Dubuque.

The staff extends to each of you its heartiest congratulations.

Mary Elizabeth Mohrman
Class of 1943

● This past year, full of happiness and achievement, has not been without its sorrows, for in January, 1941, Mary Elizabeth Mohrman was taken from our midst. Mary's pleasant disposition and intelligent manner gained her a host of friends during her year and a half at the University. She was a leader in many activities and added much to campus life. Dreams expressed in Mary's own poetry have been realized, for to the lives of all who knew her she has contributed something.

"If only to the world I were giving
A part of me — a symbol of my strife."

To the memory of one we will never forget, we dedicate this page.

The Seminary

Seminary Activities

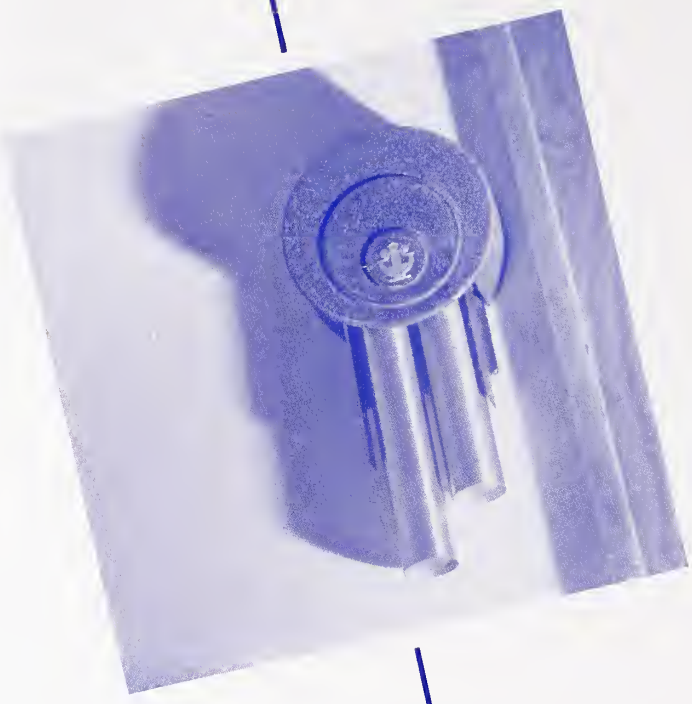

● In this, the eighty-ninth year of service rendered the Church and the community, the seminary has bent every effort toward the carrying out of their objective — to provide the intellectual, spiritual, cultural and practical preparation necessary to the development of ministers of the Gospel, ministers of religious education and ministers of Sacred music. The majority of the students bring their training into immediate application through appointments to pastoral service in nearby churches. Thus, while serving others, they develop their skill under guided practice.

Through organized devotional groups and the daily morning chapel services, the spiritual life of the Seminarians is developed and enriched. Each Wednesday morning the chapel hour is devoted to services under student direction.

The social life, recreational program and other extra-curricular activities of the seminary are under the direction of the seminary fellowship. This year William Kettlitz served the organization as president. Other officers were John Hodgson, vice-president, and Attilio Carducci, secretary-treasurer. Orrin Moore served as chairman of the devotional committee, Paul Arnold and Thomas Megahey led the fellowship committee and the recreation committee was under the direction of Albert Schmeiser.

Dedication

● To those who haven't really lived up to now; to those who are a little off-pitch; to those who know more and care less; in short to the inmates of the Steffens insane asylum and the Severance sing-sing.

Staff of the Minor Key

● If we had a staff, we wouldn't tell you. You don't want to know the staff we haven't got. Why should we tell you what you don't want to know? Anyway we don't know either.

This whole section was just slipped under the door. We don't ask questions. It ain't safe.

Stardust

a little dirt from heaven

● The editor says to me, he says, get yourself a scoop-story, or you're fired. And me with wives in Philly, Chi and Chillicothe, not speaking of eleven kids, and not counting those married or missing.

So's I says to meself, where can I get me a story? And right away I knows where me story is. I'll get me a story from Heaven. Only a couple or three guys ever got a scoop like that, guys like John, in his Revelation, and Dante, (he covered three places), and this guy Connelly with his Green Pastures.

So I steps into me space machine (I can do that, 'cause this is the year 2000 A. D.), and in no time I'm standing before the Pearly Gates, gosh, they was pretty. I'm kinda awed as who wouldn't be. So I swallows hard a couple of times before I trudges up to the ticket window.

There is a guy there with a long gray beard, and he asks me kinda friendly like, got your death certificate, Bud? Course, I says, no, you see, I ain't dead yet, I think.

And he squints at me, and he says, you ain't One-eyed Connolly, are you, trying to crash the gate? Course, I says, no.

I ask him, who is he, and he says he's Saint Peter. And I tells him I seen pictures of him. And he's kinda puffed up. That's good psychology, you see. A little flattery goes a long way. Course, I learned that from Prof. Bajema.

Well, then I flashes me press-card, and I says, Pete, old boy, I gotta get me a good story, or a lotta people'll starve in the States.

So Saint Peter kinda winks and pushes a button and the Gates slide open. I asks, how come they're using electricity now? Saint Peter tells me some smart fellas like Edison and Doc Wilson and Condit and Conzett had hooked it up, and it worked fine—sometimes.

So I slips Saint Peter a finn and stalks through the Gates, and they slams behind me. That makes me feel kind of lonely, seeing the rest of the guys up here are dead, and I'm only in on a rain-check.

All of a sudden I hears a trumpet playing out nice and clear and kind of in the groove, and I asks a nearby angel why is Gabriel playing? He says that Gabriel ain't playing no more cause he didn't like the contract offered him. I says this guy is in pretty good cip and who is he anyway? I gets me answer—it is a fella named Mussehl —and it nearly floors me. I says, I never expected to see HIM up here. The angel tells me that they needed a good trumpet man quick cause they was a lotta guys waiting outside the gates — and so they gives Mussehl an audition. He plays so nice and mellow that they lets him in anyhow. I tells him I play trumpet, too, and maybe they'll let me play the night-draft, and Angel, he says maybe, but he doubts it. Well, I ain't worrying none cause maybe they don't pay union-scale anyways so I strolls on down the street.

And what a street it is! It is all paved with gold—only here and there I sees that maybe the bricks are only covered with gilt, and I wonder if maybe the Depression of 1997 has maybe hit Heaven, too.

Well, I knocks around for a while to kinda get the lay of the land—just in case I halfta get out quick. Then I hears a choir singing kinda a cappella like, and I looks over, and I sees some people I know. So I meanders on over and taps Prof. Logan on the back, and he says hello, and we shake hands formal-like. He tells me that his choir is gonna sing in half-an-hour and to stick around. I asks him if they was the celestial voices I heard when that guy conks me over the cranium with that bottle back in '83, and he says, yes, that that was a rush order; that the tenors were a little flat, and I says I thought so, and next time, don't sing so loud cause it hurt my head.

I wanders over to the building which says it is radio station — H E V N, the Voice of Paradise, and so I walks in. And there is Nagel rehearsing his spiel for the next broadcast. We shakes hands, and he says maybe he will interview me later. I tells him I'm not dead yet, and he's sorry cause then I couldn't be heard over their hook-up. I says o. k., what cookin'? Oh, he says, the Big Guy is gonna talk, some fella on earth is due for a Revelation in about 15 minutes. I says, could I interview the Big Guy and Nagel says no, but there is a regular press-conference schedule for tomorrow, and I'd be sure to see Margery Deale there. I says that'd be swell, only I can't stay that long cause my dead-line is two o'clock this afternoon.

So I saunters out and meanders about here and there.

And who should I meet but Doc Ficke. So I'm more careful of me grammar, and he tells me he's been checking up on Dante, following his route. Doc says the fire and brimstone of Inferno smells worse than the cigar-smoke at a Rotary luncheon, and I says, I'll take his word, but I doubt it.

Then I runs into Al Ney who is making up his sport page for the Paradise Post. I see by the heads that the U. of D. alumni has won the heavenly conference title in bull-throwing. We do a little bull-throwing, too, and then I see that it is time for me to go. So I says, I'll be seeing you, and Al says, you're optimistic, and I agrees with him.

I gets back to the Pearly Gates and I takes my last look at Heaven. I wonder, will I use it again, but anyway I got a swell scoop, and so I waves good-bye to Saint Peter and steps into my Space-Machine. I flash back to the States and stroll into the news office about one-thirty. So I writes my story and hand it in to my ed.

He reads it and asks me what I had been drinking. I says, honest to heaven, I ain't touched a drop. Course, then I begin to wonder. He says, who do you think I am, H. G. Wells? I says it's the Gospel truth. He says I'm a liar—and I says maybe I am. So What? There ain't no harm in trying—is there?

Gon and Rosie

A Parody on the Waiters

With Apologies to Rudyard Kipling

We have made for you a song
And it may be right or wrong
But only you can tell us if it's true.
We have tried for to explain
Both your pleasure and your pain
And waiters, here's our best respects to you!
Oh, there'll surely come a day
When they'll give you all your pay
And treat you like a Christian ought to do,
But until that day comes around
Heaven keep you safe and sound
And waiters, here's our best respects to you.

I walked into the Commons—was greeted by a sneer,
Gon, he ups and says—a hell of a time you're here!
Rosie behind the bread-box giggles fit to die;
I walked into the cloak room and to myself says I;

"Oh it's waiter this and waiter that and waiter go away,
And we'll not get our justice until the judgment day,
Until the judgment day, my boys
Until the judgment day.
But we'll never get justice with Wieland in the way."

I walked into the kitchen to get my tray and bread,
Barton throws the dish rag and whacks me on the head.
I drop the tray of dishes with a crash upon the floor;
I starts to steal away—but Gon was at the door.

Oh, it's waiter this and waiter that and waiter get me tea.
They've got you runnin' round that floor as busy as a bee,
As busy as a bee, my boys
As busy as a bee.
They've got you running round that floor as busy as a bee.

Waiter get me some more meat. Boyd wants his coffee black.
Waiter I've a speck in my milk, will you take it back?
I shrug my burdened shoulders and trod my weary way
For thirty-cents an hour I'm turning old and gray.

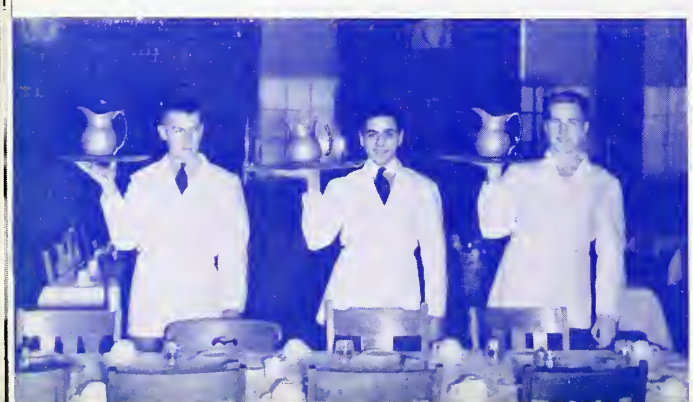

The meal is now over, the waiters take a seat.
Louise comes out and tells us she's all out of meat.
She's all out of meat, my boys
Louise comes out and tells us she's all out of meat.

You talk of better food for us, of courtesy and stuff;
We know when in an ill-mood we treat you rather rough.
We're had our ins and outs with you and you've had them with us,
But sometimes when we hear you wrong, don't make such a fuss.

For it's waiter this and waiter that and listen to us, you hound!
But it's glad to see you out, boy when the banquets roll around.
And it's waiter this and waiter that and anything you please,
And the waiter ain't a bloomin' fool—you bet that waiter sees.

Kenneth Rohl,
Theodore Svensson.

Thank You

THE 1942 Key is indebted to the advertisers who have taken space in this volume. Their help is no small factor in its success.

THEY are a select group . . . interested in students, in student affairs, and catering to student needs with a peculiar understanding . . . all loyal friends of the University of Dubuque . . . all seeing in it strength and purpose and future . . . a future they are seeing fit to tie to their own.

THEIR dependability, their desire to serve, their appreciation of patronage, their stocking of high quality merchandise at popular prices . . . all these merits have won them distinction through the years . . . years in which Dubuquers have come to respect them as merchants, with whom to trade is pleasure, in whom to trust is no chore.

THEN to patronize them is to do more than to thank them for their courtesy and interest in us . . . it is to cast a vote for high ethics in merchandising . . . and to establish coveted friendships.

Since its very beginning, in 1894, this store has always sought the best for its clientele and has maintained a policy of satisfactory service to all.

The inward urge, each year, to make it better and of more service to the community has resulted in the upbuilding of a great retail institution—one which is conceded as being the largest department store in Iowa.

Diligence, perseverance and straightforwardness count equally as well in business as in school life.

Office of THE KEY

The Student Body
University of Dubuque

Dubuque, Iowa

Friends:

As work on the 1942 KEY comes to a close we would like you students to know that in spite of the long hours we have thoroughly enjoyed every minute spent in the preparation of your yearbook.

As we pause here at the end of our work we would like to call your attention to the all important part played in the production of your KEY by various individuals and firms.

First, for the fine support and advice given us by Dr. William B. Zuker, we are indeed grateful.

The invaluable assistance of our collegues, especially our art editor, Miss Marguerite Walsh, and our secretary, Miss Elizabeth Powers, will never be fully realized, although we offer them our sincere thanks for their many hours of effort.

To Mrs. B. F. Hughes, our portrait photographer, and Elwin Davis, our staff photographer; to Ralph Martin of the Telegraph-Herald, and his foreman, Otis Skeie; to Yonkers engravers; and to all who shared in the technical production, our sincere appreciation is given.

All students who contributed photographs, articles, and other material for the book are deserving of grateful thanks.

To those who gave us invaluable assistance by their generous patronage and advertisements, we wish much success and prosperity.

In final closing, we are proud to have been able to record a year at the University of Dubuque and wish to thank everyone who has helped with this publication.

Sincerely,

Calvin H. Ahrens
